University of New Mexico Presidents

In 1914 the 25th Anniversary of the founding of the University was celebrated with the exercises being held March 2.

In 1915 the Board of Regents adopted a policy giving the President full power to discharge selected members of the faculty.

The telephone system was installed in 1916 with an instrument in each dorm, offices, the dining hall, etc.

The books of the University were audited in 1916 and found to be in superior order. The net worth of the University by that date was $221,840.33. Laws effective after January, 1917 required each state institution to keep its books in such shape that a daily cash balance would be shown.

The "12 Minute Service" to the University was inaugurated in 1916 by the extension of the City Electric carline and the horse and wagon purchased at the opening of 1912 were retired.

The University actively participated in wartime training after the entry of the U.S. into the war in April, 1917. The N.M. National Guard leased campus land for a mobilization camp and Battery A was stationed on campus during the summer. A branch of the Red Cross was begun and classes were added in home nursing, Red Cross work and dietetics.

Dr. Boyd resigned in 1919 after Governor Lindsey criticized the Board of Regents for improvements made on campus during 1918. "The University did not need any money for improvements but should confine expenditures to the educational demands and needs."
